

Dr. Khalid Albahily

SABIC CRD-KAUST Site Director, SABIC

Tel: +966 (0) 535303491

Email: bahilyka@sabic.com

Dr. Khalid Albahily is currently the Director of SABIC Corporate R&D Center at KAUST, Saudi Arabia. The current focus of the center falls under the umbrella of renewable energy, differentiated materials and CO<sub>2</sub> utilization & sequestration.

Dr. Albahily has published more than 25 papers in high impact journals such as Journal of the American Chemical Society, Chemical Society Reviews, Angewandte Chemie, Organometallics, etc.

He has 20 years of research experience in the field of petrochemical technologies development, which resulted in more than 50 patents (granted & applications).

Dr. Albahily received BSc degree in chemistry from King Saud University, Saudi Arabia, MSc degree from Texas A&M University, College Station, United States and PhD degree from University of Ottawa, Canada.

Dr. Albahily was awarded the Pierre Laberge Prize by University of Ottawa for the best PhD thesis in Science and he was also the winner of IUPAC international prize for outstanding academic achievements